

Social Security

Could you pay your maid or cook a pension for life if she becomes disabled, or when she is too old to work? Would you help to support her children if she were to die?

In days long past, feudal barons and slaveholders provided food, clothing, and shelter for their domestic help. But today, your household employee earns her own protection under the social security program. Domestic workers who are paid at least $50 cash wages in a calendar quarter from a single employer receive social security credit for these earnings. But to get this credit, the earnings must be reported, quarterly, and are due by April 30, July 31, October 31, and January 31 each year.

If you are a household employer on the mailing list of the District Director of Internal Revenue, one of these forms is mailed to you at appropriate intervals. If social security taxes are due and you are not on the mailing list, you should request the District Director to add your name to his mailing list.

The social security tax for the employer and the employee is 3-5/8 percent each of the total cash wages paid in a calendar quarter. However, it is the responsibility of the employer to report and remit the total tax of 7 1/4 percent to the District Director of Internal Revenue.

The $50-cash-wage test applies to each household worker in your employ, but no report or social security tax is due on any household worker to whom you pay less than $50 cash during a calendar quarter.

Farmers in this area were reminded today that annual reports on the earnings of farm workers are due in the office of the District Director of Internal Revenue by January 31, 1964.

Farm employers who fail to file a yearly report on the earnings of farm workers and to pay the social security taxes due are subject to penalties and interest charges on unpaid social security taxes.

Harry N. Scott, Dothan, Alabama, social security District Manager, and George D. Patterson, District Director of Internal Revenue at Birmingham, Alabama, noted that the earnings of most, but not all, farm workers are covered under social security.

A farm employee, to be covered, must be paid at least $50 in cash wages by his employer, or work for the employer on 20 or more days during the year for cash wages figured on a time basis rather than on a piece-rate basis. The above is a correction of an earlier release which contained an error.

For 1963 the social security tax rate is 3-5/8 percent each for employer and employee on cash wages up to $4800 in the year. The tax amount must be entered on Form 943 (Employer's Annual Tax Return for Agricultural Employees) together with the total amount of cash wages paid to each farm worker. The completed form must be filed with the District Director of Internal Revenue at Birmingham on or before January 31, 1964.

Thousands of self-employed farmers and their dependents have retired with social security benefits in the years since 1954 when Congress extended coverage to this group. Today another 4 1/2 million people who depend upon farming for a livelihood are building social security against the loss of income resulting from old-age, disability, or death.

While urging farmers in this area to file prompt and accurate income and earnings reports for 1963, Harry N. Scott, Social Security District Manager, pointed out that failure to report or filing inaccurate reports may result in reduced social security benefits or the loss of benefits.

"Now is a good time," said Mr. Scott, "for farmers to examine their books to see what they must report to Uncle Sam on their Federal income returns for the past year."

Also, he said, "It is important to know that low-income farmers can build protection against the loss of income in old-age or following disability or death." Mr. Scott cited a special optional provision in the law which enables farmers whose net earnings are less than $400 to acquire social security credits. It works like this:

(1) If a farmer's gross income from agricultural self-employment is between $600 and $1800, he may count two-thirds of his gross farm income for social security purposes. (2) If gross farm income exceeds $1800 and net farm earnings are less than $2000, he may use either his actual net or $1200.

Under the above provisions, a farmer with annual gross income as low as $600 can declare his net earnings to be $400, or two-thirds of his gross income, to get social security credit for that year. Information regarding social security taxes and tax return forms can be obtained at the Internal Revenue Service Office at 206 1/2 South Oates Street, Dothan, Alabama. Questions about old-age, survivors, and disability benefits should be taken up with the Social Security office at 404 South Oates

Street, Dothan, Alabama.

Kennedy - Johnson.

Since so many names are being changed to Kennedy why doesn't Johnson tack it onto his name—that sounds more right than anything I know. So from now on President Johnson is going to be President Kennedy Johnson in this column. President Johnson is a "me too" president. I haven't been able to figure out how the Gallup Poll comes up with Johnson being so popular in the South. I have to find the first person who'll admit they will even sorta support him for president. But I have found many who will quickly tell you they will NOT support him for president this fall. And if course that will mean supporting Johnson, pledged nominees for delegates, electors, etc.

ITS GOLDWATER.

Apparently Goldwater hasn't lost any ground because of President Kennedy's assassination in November. Everybody got real quiet and in honor of the late president and the office he held waited until the turn of the new year to begin adding on fuel and picking up steam from a political standpoint. It looks at this time that if Goldwater will carry Alabama, if nominated as the Republican nominee, against any Democrat that has been mentioned thus far, I have heard hundreds say "I have always voted a Democrat ticket but I will not vote for Johnson," and go on to mention several other Democrats they would not support. When asked what they thought of Goldwater and voting Republican the same hundreds made favorable comments about him. So the outlook right now in this section is "going to vote Republican if Goldwater is the nominee."

"I'll be frank. I had begun to wonder if we were a set-aside group in this part of the country. Reading the Gallup Poll and all the talk about how the south is almost 100 percent behind President Johnson, I put me to wondering. But on checking around I find that this section is not behind Johnson. So tell me—where does the Gallup Poll get this business of the south supporting Johnson. If it does, it'll have to come later—he is not being supported for president the next four years at this time."

There is no telling what will happen before election day but at this time the Republicans have the best chance they have ever had to get organized in the South.

DIET PROBLEMS. . . . Going on a diet to get rid of some of myself is time wasted. I lost two pounds and just as I was about ready to start bragging I weighed again to boost up my morale and found that I had gained it all back again. I was so discouraged I was tempted to give up until Mack told me a lot of bad things about how I looked and how I gained another pound. After I got over being insulted about myself I decided I'd try just a few more days. Of course I didn't tell him about the cheating I had been doing. I saw a recipe for a good request cheese dressing using sour cream and I just had to try making some and then I had to try eating some. That is where the two pounds came from. I have learned I can't read any of these new and always good recipes—trying them out is what makes the pounds grow. It is pit-

School Of Missions

Stated By

First Methodist

The Elba Methodist Church will hold its annual School of Missions of next week. The theme will be "Our Mission Today" which is intended to be a depth study of what it really means to be a follower of Jesus Christ in the space age, the American culture, and the Elba society.

The Reverend Walter Albritton, Director of Missions and Evangelism for the 750 Churches of the Alabama-West Florida Conference, The Methodist Church, will serve as speaker. Reverend Albritton is an inspiring leader, a forceful preacher, and a dynamic personality. He has recently presented this message in several other churches with remarkably effective results.

Reverend Albritton will preach at both the morning and evening worship services Sunday and Monday. The first study session at 9 P.M. The study sessions on Monday and Tuesday evenings will run from 7-9 P.M. A period of fellowship will be held with coffee, cakes, and cake after the Sunday evening service and in the middle of the session on Monday and Tuesday evenings.

Everyone is invited to take part in this experience.

WMU Quarterly

Meeting Today

In Enterprise

The Associational WMU Day Quarterly Meeting will be held Thursday, January 9, at the Park Avenue Baptist Church in Enterprise, beginning at 9:55 A.M. The guest speaker will be Mrs. John H. Whit, home missionary, Mrs. G. Pittman, associational president, of New Brockton, will preside over the meeting.

The Night Quarterly Meeting will be held Thursday night, January 9, at the Fairview Baptist Church, beginning at 7 o'clock. Miss Annie Rae Pierson, of Enterprise, will be leading the work for the night circles.

This is a supper meeting and Miss Pierson should be notified as to the number from each society attending by January 7.

RIGHT NAME - "See that big fellow over there?" said Jones to his friend at the bar. "He was a famous shark fisherman. His specialty was sticking his arm into the shark's mouth to remove the hook. The old-timers used to call him 'Feudless'."

"Used to? What do they call him now?"

NUMBER 29

Alto Jones

Killed By

Gunman

Alto Jones, 55, a prominent Goodman farmer was shot to death early Friday morning as he lay sleeping in his own bed. Goodman is about 15

west of Enterprise, near Elba.

Coffee County Sheriff H. D.

Tillman said an unknown gunman apparently pried the screen off a window by Jones'

bed, stuck his gun through an open window and shot the farmer in the head. Mrs. Jones was sleeping by the side of her husband when the shot was fired.

Tillman said the bullet must have killed Jones instantly

since it did not look like he moved after the shot was fired.

Funeral services for Jones were held Saturday in the Goodman Baptist Church with

the Reverend Woodrow Wilson officiating. Burial was in the church cemetery.

Survivors include his wife,

Mrs. Lottie Lee Grimes Jones,

a son, 5 daughters, and seven grandchildren.

A New Year's resolution

for veterans and their dependents has been suggested by the Alabama Department of Veterans Af-airs.

Department Director,

Walter C. Head Jr., urged

veterans and their dependents receiving non-service-

connected disability pensions to immediately complete their annual service

questionnaires and return

them to the Veterans Administration.

The Veterans Administration cutoff date is January 31, 1964. Those who have not returned their questionnaires by this date

will be dropped from the pension rolls. After such penalty is received in 1963,

Head advised the pensioners to contact Coffee

County Veterans Service

Officer, Maxwell Reeves,

for assistance in properly

filling out the questionnaires and returning it. His office is located in the Courthouse in Elba and is open

Monday through Friday.

By law, the VA is required to ask veterans to complete their annual income for the past year,

as well as the expected income for next year.

Head said questionnaires were mailed to 38,951 Alabama veterans and their dependents. About 21,000 have already been returned.

The second stage of the Polio Campaign sponsored

by Medical Society

is scheduled for Sunday,

January 12th, when

Sabin oral vaccine will be administered to all children under the age of five. This is the second round in the three-round

fight to rid the community of polio, the dread cri-

pling disease that strikes

both children and adults,

from babies-in-arms

through teenagers and young adults and including the very old are urged to take the vaccine so that at that time, is urged to obtain Type III vaccine

which will be given Sunday, January 12th.

There are three separate Sabin vaccines,

for the vaccine, however a small donation (25¢ per person suggested) will be accepted from those who protect against all three.

Even those who failed to take the first vaccine in November are strongly urged to take the second vaccine Sunday afternoon.

This vaccine will protect against one serious type of polio, and later, the vaccine will be available

again.

It was clearly demonstrated in November that only a few moments of time

are required to take the vaccine is easy to take,

and there are no after ef-

THROUGH THE KEYHOLE

BY MRS. ROBERT CANNON

THE NEW YEAR was rung in with appropriate gestures and celebrations last Tuesday evening. A group of college students gathered at Ann Waters' home for a delightful spaghetti supper and found the front rooms cleverly decorated by the ingenious hostess. White cloths covered the card tables and each place was marked by a card adorned with the person's name and an animal picture representing his school - elephants for 'Bama, tigers for Auburn, etc. - as well as toy horns. On the mantle a fat New Year Cupid looked longingly at the one candle topping his cake and from the chandelier hung balloons with funny faces and ears created by Ann with bits of colored paper, string and such odds 'n' ends.

Invited to dinner were these couples: Corinne Cawen and Dale Moseley, Rachel Grimes, Jan Dowdy and Steve Dewberry, Patricia Ennis and Billy Woodham, Ed Eubanks, Jean Taylor and Paul Hudson, Eloise Lawson of Montgomery (who was visiting the Woodrow Cullers) and Joe Clark of New Brockton, Sara Marler and Bobby Johnson of New Brockton, Barbara McDonald and Harold Cain and Ann and her special guest, Frank Wilkes.

After the evening's festivities the young ladies bid their escorts farewell and then spent many hours sitting around the house and enjoying the "talk" that makes a pajama party such fun.

ANOTHER PARTY for an equally cute and popular young lady marked her debut into the teen years. June Jacobs, daughter of Francis and Richard Jacobs, was thirteen on the last Saturday of the old year. She invited her friends to her home for an evening of games and party activities highlighted by the appearance of a white cake adorned with red roses and red candles.

Attending were: Nina Rowe, Carol Vaughn, Sylvia Smith, Candace Oggs, Margie Bruce, Eron Hollaway, Judy Searcy, Sue Young, Sammy Waters, Marilyn Taylor, Barbara Brunson, Betty Davis, Nancy Brock, Judy Davis, Johnny Martin, Joel Martin, Gary Jones, Keith Baker, John Milton, Roy Miller, Elaine and Bobby Bullard, Ray Donaldson, and Charles Cowan.

QUITE A CROWD gathered at the home of Pearl and Joe Meacham of Curtis during the holidays. Joe's sister, Mrs. R. C. Shoaf, came home from Warrensville, North Carolina, with her husband and children. Jerry and Maureen, Auburn group gathered together to brought her husband and youngsters four to see the elder Mrs. Meacham; while Mrs. Bob Donaldson of Kingston brought son Tim to see his cousins and Jane (Donaldson) Weeks of O'pp had Ken, Jim and Scott to town. Pearl's sister, Fan Cowan, and husband Ted came to Curtis with their two sons, Steve and Hal, leaving their Charleston home for a warmer climate. Pearl's brother, Jack Jacobs, and his wife drove from St. Petersburg, Florida, to complete the picture. And a good time was had by all.

ANOTHER couple driving in that direction on Christmas was Lois and Ed Woodham who were dinner guests of Ed's mother, Mrs. C.N. Woodham. They enjoyed seeing her as well as Mary Nell Robbins and her pretty daughter Lynn.

AND having a sister come home is a real treat, and Lois Mills told us that Ennis and Billy Woodham, she had particularly enjoyed seeing Betty Sue company. Betty Dorsey's deep interest in those around her; Ben Brock's tentative plans for the annual University of Alabama Alumni dinner (he is president of the county chapter); Rachel Cook's maternal concern over the little ones left nestled in their beds at home; Doug Easters' quiet poise on "home territory"; Nell and Drexel Cook's obvious interest in each others conversation; Bonneau Rowe's gallantly squiring the ladies around the dance floor; Gwyn Marshall's happy smile; and the sight of the Harper men and their stylish ladies - Gloria in a brilliant blue sheath, capped in chiffon and cuffed in grey fur; Tinka in black with long sleeves and sashed empire style; and Torsye Rhoades in a black silk shawl with the Paris look.

As we left the club we admired the portrait of the uniform clad gentlemen which graces the foyer. General Rucker we were told (not that we remember the real rank, but long ago decided it was much safer to call all officers "General") and save wear on the nervous system). We were intrigued with the idea of a federal installation should bear the name of a Confederate officer, for this distinguished gentleman with eyes of steel wears a dove grey uniform embellished with brass buttons. We would certainly be interested in learning the details of General Rucker's career and what deeds of his prompted the government to honor his name. If you know, please call us. History is our hobby.

ONE of the nicest evenings of the holiday season was the one we spent with a group of friends who were here, Young and Ann Rainer came from Falls Church, Virginia, with Ronnie, Charlotte, and Deborah, and spent several days here and in Andalusia with the Brodgers. Martha Rainer drove across the long highway from Key West, Florida, while Marjorie and Frank Rainer were here with Nancy and pig-tailed Marilyn. The Harris Murphrees also were objects of the latter's visit.

ONE of the happiest households in Elba last week was that of Mrs. Sara Rainer, for all her children were here, Young and Ann Rainer came from Falls Church, Virginia, with Ronnie, Charlotte, and Deborah, and spent several days here and in Andalusia with the Brodgers. Prompt and accurate reporting of net earnings was described today as "the only way to assure self-employed people of social security protection in future years." In a joint notice to self-employed people, Harry N. Scott, social security District Manager, and James O'Connell, District Director of Internal Revenue, advised that the 1963 Federal income tax returns (Form 1040) must be filed on or before April 15, 1964.

Mr. O'Connell stated that a self-employed person must file a tax return and pay the self-employment tax if net earnings for the year were at least $400, even if no income tax is payable.

Mr. Scott reminded self-employed persons that any old-age, survivors, and disability insurance benefits payable to them and their families will be based on credits reflecting reported earnings. If earnings are not reported or if they are incorrectly reported, benefit amounts may be reduced - in some cases lost entirely - when the worker retires, he or she speaker at his local farm association explained so-

To illustrate the importance of reporting self-employment earnings, Mr. Scott cited the case of a young farmer with a large family. When self-employed farmers were first brought under social security, in 1955, Jim was 20 but busy to give much thought to it. He had his share of farm chores and a new baby in the family.

Jim thought of social security as something for older people like Jenkins, his neighbor, who was drawing old-age insurance benefits after 30 years of work as a machinist. Jim thought he could wait a bit before looking into this social security business. Jim changed his mind and decided to look into this "business" after a while. He was a hard worker, he speaker at his local farm association explained so-

Use a damp sponge to clean the inside of window screens and doors. It will pick up the dust without scattering it.

Select the right size container for your family when freezing foods. A quart container holds from four to six servings; a pint will hold two to three.

You can safely refreeze meat if it doesn't thaw out completely. But the meat may be less tender and juicy.

NOTHING IS IMPOSSIBLE

THE CHURCH FOR ALL - ALL FOR THE CHURCH
The Church is the greatest force on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is the source of spiritual values. Without a strong, healthy, active Christianity, we have lost our way. We need the Church to give us the spiritual support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Never has the future seemed more exciting . . . or more disturbing! Today we dream of flights to far stars; about intelligent life on other planets. We look at our own earth with clear eyes, and discuss the possibility of world brotherhood, world government, world peace.

Are these things going to happen? We don't know. But we do know that nothing is impossible.

In fact, Jesus tells us that all things are possible with God. He wants us to understand that God is infinite power, as well as infinite love. The foolishness of men cannot affect God's plans for the universe, or His love for each one of us.

Faith is what we need . . . faith in the certainties upon which the Christian Church is founded. When we put our lives in God's hands, there is no need to view the future with doubt or dread. All will be well.

Heart Association Urges Public To Avoid Cigarettes

"Resolved, that I will safeguard my heart and health by avoiding or dropping the cigarette."

This New Year's resolution was proposed for adoption by members of the Alabama Heart Association, which cautioned non-smoking youngsters that the best method of dealing with the cigarette habit is never to let it get started in the first place.

The Association said that people who smoke should resolve to discontinue cigarettes; if they persist they run a real risk that their life-span may be shortened due to heart disease or other serious health problems.

"Whether you are a teenager or an adult," said the Association, "you should remember that heavy cigarette smoking may contribute to or accelerate the development of coronary heart disease or its complications."

"A number of medical studies have demonstrated a substantial association between cigarette smoking and illness and death from coronary artery disease," the Association continued. "In these studies death rates from heart attacks in middle-aged men were found to be 50 to 200 per cent higher among heavy cigarette smokers as compared with non-smokers and pipe or cigar smokers."

"A few of these studies also offer evidence that illness and death from coronary artery disease decrease significantly among those who have stopped smoking," said the Association.

Parents were urged by the Heart Association to provide an example for their children, since twice as many high school students smoke when both parents smoke as when neither parent smokes, the Association said.

College Students Return After Holiday Season

Returning to Troy State College after spending Christmas holidays with their parents were: Nell Spurlin, Charlotte Meek, Ella Kate Allen, Robert Russell, Yvonne Bryan, Ann Waters, Jean Taylor, Paul Hudson, Linda McCullough, Patricia Ennis, Cecelia Burkett, Jan Dowdy, and Barbara McDonald.

To the University of Alabama: Frank Wilkes, Robert Grimes, Bobby Inman, Lavah Padgett, Janet Warr, Henriette Dorsey, Mary John Smith, Margaret Kendrick, and Judy Wilson.

To Auburn University: Wayne Taylor, Roger Winston Jr., Linda Crook, and Sauter.

To Judson College: Olive Carney.

To Agnes Scott: Connie Cooper.

To Alabama Christian: Johnny Locklear and Charlene Rushing.

It is especially important for adults with a high risk of coronary heart disease to discontinue cigarette smoking. The Association noted. This group includes those with a family history of heart attack or stroke in middle age, high blood pressure, high levels of fatty substances in the blood and other factors associated with greater proneness to hardening of the arteries.

Statistical analysis of existing data indicates that cigarette smoking is associated with a yearly increase of about 60,000 premature deaths from coronary disease among American men. This is approximately equal to the estimated increase in deaths associated with cigarette smoking from all other diseases combined.

Farm Affairs

With
Thomas C. Cassaday
COUNTY AGENT

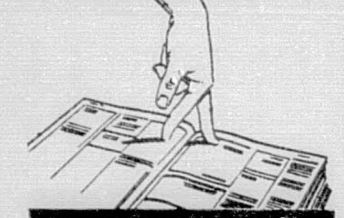

Coffee County farmers generally had a good year in 1963. The prospects for 1964 seem equally encouraging, although a lot of factors enter into agricultural income. Farm production is not nearly as predictable as other areas of the economy because weather is a big, uncontrollable factor.

With the know-how that Coffee County farmers have, 1964, with normal weather, could be as good as last year. A lot of emphasis will be placed on expanding cattle and hog production. Our farmers are limited on the number of acres they can plant to cotton and peanuts. This leaves thousands of acres that can be planted to grain and forage crops for livestock production. This is an opportunity that Coffee County farmers should take advantage of. We simply can't afford to just maintain our present level of production in the livestock business. We must use the resources we have on our farms to expand and thus be in a position to compete with other areas of the country. If we don't do this we're faced with the real prospect of lower and lower net farm income in the future.

A brief summary of the outlook in 1964 is as follows: Cotton planted will probably increase from the 15,812 acres planted to 14,000 or more acres in the new year. We need to plant every allotted acre. Approximately 26,000 tures as they do good grasses and legumes. And these same weeds are more than likely taking money out of their pockets as well as robbing the good plants of nutrients and moisture.

County Agent, Tom Cassaday, says farmers wouldn't dare buy fuel for tractors and let thieves steal it. "These same farmers must realize they must protect the money they spend for fertilizer by controlling the weeds in their fields and pastures."

Coffee County farmers planted 50,000 acres of corn last year. We hope to increase this acreage in 1964. If we are to expand hog and cattle production it will be necessary to plant more corn and make higher yields per acre through heavier fertilization and thicker spacings. With a normal year, Coffee County farmers will be able to upcorn production.

Net income from beef cattle can be increased in 1964 by doing a better job of pasture fertilization and by improving management. Cattle can be fed to heavier weights, the percent calf crop can be increased and some herds can be enlarged.

Hogs offer one of the best opportunities for Coffee County farmers to increase farm income. Investment per sow is low and returns are realized in months rather than years. It's true that prices go up and down and some years' profits are slim. However, we believe income from hogs can be doubled and tripled in the years ahead. But we must improve management if we are to compete with other areas. Coffee County farmers have a good opportunity in hog production in 1964. The outlook is for hog prices to average about two cents per pound above 1963 prices.

When you dig it with a shovel, or hoe or spade it up, and then get down on your hands and knees and look at it, it looks like plain, ordinary dirt. But when a soil testing laboratory puts it in test tubes and starts a series of analysis tests, it becomes potash, phosphorus, magnesium and other valuable plant nutrients.

Auburn University provides such a testing laboratory for gardeners and farmers a chance to find out about their soil—whether it's acid or basic, if it needs potash or phosphorus or some other plant nutrients essential for healthy growth.

H.B. Thompson, Assistant County Agent, says that a soil test not only shows the kind of fertilizer or lime needed, but it also gives the exact amount.

Flower beds, lawns, fruit trees and gardens grow faster, look healthier and produce more fruit and flowers if the soil contains the nutrients needed by these plants. The only way to make sure this plant food is present is to have your soil tested. For example, we get many calls from people concerned about their lawns dying in spots or having a burned appearance. After checking the lawn and talking with the homeowner, they found that in many cases this condition resulted from either lack of fertilizer or in some cases too much fertilizer.

Thompson says that the major problem facing gardeners isn't entirely the lack of fertilizer use, but is the use of too much, too little or the wrong kind. The first step in taking a soil test is to visit your county agent's office and pick up needed supplies. We will explain the correct procedure for taking a sample and mailing it to the lab. Each sample costs $1.

With performance records, Alabama cattlemen can eliminate low producers with the least effort and identify and multiply the high producers.

It is estimated that during harvest season soybean losses run as high as 25 per cent. Attention to machinery adjustments, harvesting conditions and the like usually would save many dollars' worth of this valuable crop.

U.S. overseas food programs have revolutionized Japanese eating habits. They now eat twice as much wheat, oil and fats; drink three times as much milk; and eat four times as much meat as they did before the war.
